President's Letter

Dear Colleagues, dear Friends of AIC,

the recent change of AIC into "Italian Academy of Conservative and Restorative Dentistry" is the natural consequence of narrower boundaries between Conservative and Prosthetic Dentistry. The evolution of direct and indirect aesthetic adhesive materials allows restorative treatment plans not limited to the single tooth but involving complex multidisciplinary rehabilitations.

For this reason, our next Annual Meeting which will be held in Turin at the Lingotto Congress Center on May 10th-12th 2018 will focus on the Indirect Adhesive Restorations.

On Thursday May 10th, the Pre-congress Course by Christian Coachman mentor of the "Digital Smile Design" will lead us in the digital planning world of restorative aesthetic treatment.

The meeting will continue on Friday with a careful and competitive analysis of indirect restorative materials (composite resin, feldspatic ceramics, lithium disilicate and zirconia) held by dentist/dental-technician teams under the common theme: #the_indirect_way. This comparison will allow to understand the workflows of both the Dental Office and the Dental Laboratory to achieve excellent clinical outcomes.

Saturday will be dedicated to Samuele Valerio after 10 years from his death. An unforgettable mentor that developed the modern foundations of Restorative Dentistry defining the foundations on which AIC is still standing today. The "Sam & Friends" session will bring us to the memory of his principles and his work, revised in the light of the latest multidisciplinary restorative approaches thanks to lectures presented by his students and close friends.

Over the recent years, AIC constantly increased his memberships to over 1,000 practitioners with a great success at the 2017 International Congress "AIC & Conseuro" held in Bologna last May and registering than 1,600 participants from several European and non-European countries. While we are proud of this high recognition, we are also aware of the responsibility that our scientific proposal should satisfy such a large and selected audience. We look forward to seeing you at the next Meeting focused on objective information and latest update in our professional interests and our daily clinical needs.

We await for you in Turin!

20TH ANNUAL CONGRESS

TURIN 10-12 May 2018

Thursday May 10, 2018

Pre-congress Course
Digital and Emotional Dentistry

Christian Coachman

Technological progress is changing as never before the Dentist's profession: the great poly-professional offices and low cost dental clinics are making competition more difficult for small single dentist dental practices, changing the way they work and relate to patients. It's self-evident that with the change of the entire dental panorama it can be very burdensome for a single professional to keep up.
The Pre-congress day will present a systematic and methodological approach based on scientific and clinical evidence for the design of excellent aesthetic adhesive restorations as well as the formulation of a treatment plan, appropriate to the different needs of the patient. New strategies on digital workflow, clinical expertise, marketing and management of professional practice in restorative dentistry will be illustrated.

Educational goals:

1. Upgrading the dental practice team by adopting emotional dentistry technology systems and strategies;
2. Modify the professional approach from an exclusively oral vision to a broader orofacial vision;
3. Optimize the treatment plan and clinical workflow with 3D virtual simulations, guided dentistry and complete program of digital workflows.
